

Hays Urged As Convention Chairman

Personal Friends Believe His Selection Would Be Agreeable to all Candidates and Restore Harmony
(United Press)
Chicago, April 30—With a view to harmony, personal friends of Will Hays, chairman of the republican national committee, were preparing today to launch a campaign to have him selected as temporary chairman of the national convention in June. Back of the movement, it was learned, are Victor Rosewater, of Omaha, and Fred Upham, treasurer of the national committee. By refraining from discussing any policy in regard to the league of nations, from playing favorite among the presidential candidates, it was said Hays won the confidence of leaders. Republican headquarters here admitted Hays' name has been mentioned for the chairmanship.

Fraud Charges In Primaries Bad For Party Success

Wood and Johnson Contest Believed to Make Future Harmony in Party Difficult
(By United Press)
New York, April 30—Politicians here were speculating today on the possible far-reaching effect of Senator Johnson's charges of fraud in Tuesday's primaries in New Jersey which has resulted in his demand for a recount in several districts. This was the first open break between republican presidential candidates in the pre-convention campaign. It marked the culmination of the enmity between the organization of Senator Johnson and General Wood which had its inception in the North Dakota primaries in March, and reached a similar crisis in the Michigan preferential vote. On the face of returns General Wood won in New Jersey by about 1,000. Politicians saw in Johnson's charges the elimination of a possible compromise between Wood and Johnson at the Chicago convention. Wood has shown an utter disregard for the unwritten law of politics that accords the favorite son the uncontested right to a unanimous support of his own state. He has been more or less successful in splitting delegates of Gov. Lowden of Illinois, and Senator Harding in Ohio, and Gov. Coolidge in Massachusetts. But in so doing political observers asserted he has incurred the displeasure of these candidates' followers and probably has killed any chance of receiving their support in case their respective choices are eliminated in the convention. It has so happened that most of the spectacular fights to date have been furnished by Wood and Johnson. The Dakotas, Minnesota, Michigan, Montana, Nebraska and New Jersey have seen them arrayed against each other. Certain politicians profess to see significance in the fact that Lowden, Harding and Hoover have personally issued absolute mandates that their followers must make no attack on any rival candidates. They have obviously left the way open for any compromise that may be made on the floor of the convention. The democratic campaign has been particularly free from any bitterness over factional disputes, except in isolated communities that have no bearing on the general situation.

May Day Plot To Slay Officials

Department of Justice Notifies Persons Marked for Assassination by Communists
Washington, April 29—Plots against the lives of more than a score of federal and state officials have been discovered by the department of justice as part of radical May day demonstrations, Attorney General Palmer announced tonight.
May Day Program
The assassinations and assaults, Mr. Palmer said, were included in the May day program organized by the Communist-Labor party and other radical elements and were in addition to strike and other disturbances intended by the radicals as an effort in behalf of peace with soviet Russia. State officials marked as "victims" have been notified by the department of justice. The attorney general added, of the information in the hands of the federal government and their co-operation requested in repressing radical demonstrations.

Linked With Europe
The department has information, according to the attorney general, that the instigators of the May day demonstration here have been working "in direct connection and union" with leaders of disturbances set for Europe.

As in Europe, attempts are being made to incite strikes in all basic American industries, Mr. Palmer said, although he did not believe they would be successful. "I'm not going to prophesy what will happen," he said. "I am just mawing public some of the things our agents have discovered. But if a will to upset our nation's whole scheme of living counts for anything, the radicals may cause some trouble."

Walkouts Planned
Mr. Palmer said that while he could not disclose the nature of the Communist-Labor party's plan in connection with further strikes, leaders of that organization had concentrated on several important industries, and that the demonstrations planned threatened to cause trouble in the way of walkouts.

All the propaganda, advocating May day disturbances, referred to "inhuman treatment" of the soviet government of Russia by the United States and the allied powers, Mr. Palmer continued.

In foreign sections of industrial centers, appeals for "peace with Russia" have been employed as the main method in stirring up dissatisfaction with this government, he said. Strikes and disorder, he added, simply are meant to emphasize to American officials the threats of the radicals that relations must be resumed with Russia.

Washington, April 30—Secret service agents of the department of justice today were in conference with officials of the big cities planning to cope with a May day demonstration of the reds, which Attorney General Palmer believes is planned for tomorrow.

Palmer, who believes the reds have marked many public officials for assassination, was personally directing efforts to break the alleged plot.

The radicals plan, according to the justice department reports, is to stir up strikes, rioting and confusion. Public men whose lives have been threatened, have been warned and precautions taken, Palmer said. Palmer for months has been receiving threatening letters.

The resolution specifically declares that the United States waives none of its rights to the armistice or treaty of Versailles.

America Faces Big Wheat Shortage

In the Opinion of Dean Thatcher of the University Agricultural School Unless Production Is Increased
(By United Press)

St. Paul, April 30—Unless America meets a fast approaching production crisis, bread may be twenty-five cents a loaf next year, Dean R. Thatcher of the agricultural college, University of Minnesota, told editors of the state meeting here.

"I would not be surprised to see wheat at $5 or $6 a bushel," Thatcher declared. "The shortage of farm labor is critical. We must increase production per man and not production per acre. While the nations of the world are standing on an eight hour day, America this year possibly faces a shortage of three-fourths of a billion bushels of wheat."

Soldier Bonus Bill Completed For Approval

Provides For Cash Bonus of $125 For Each Day of Service—One and One-half Billion Taxes Required
(By United Press)

Washington, April 30—The complete soldier bonus bill carrying increased taxes of $1,564,000,000 to be raised during 1921 and 1922, and providing for cash bonus of $125 for each day's army or navy service, will be submitted to the full membership of the house ways and means committee today for its approval.

Republican members already have approved it. Bonus and other forms of aid for soldiers cannot be paid until the first part of the year however, the republicans decided, that none of the taxes necessary to raise the money for paying the bonus shall be extended before Jan. 1, 1921. The increased taxes proposed would bring a total government revenue raised to nearly $6,000,000,000, or virtually as much as was raised during any year of the war.

The republican plan, it was expected, will be approved by the committee today.

The bill as finally approved by the republicans is based on a fourfold plan of the American Legion service men, being given an option of a cash bonus, farms and home aids, vocational training or paid up insurance. No benefits will be allowed for the first sixty days service, as this was thought to have been covered by the original bonus. Those men choosing a cash bonus or farms, will be allowed $125 for each day, while those preferring home building aid, vocational training or paid up insurance will receive a credit of $1.75 per day. The cash bonus is to be paid in four equal installments, probably beginning April 1, 1921.

Bill Reported to House

Washington, April 30—The house ways and means committee today by a strict party vote favorably reported to the house the soldier bonus bill.

If approved by the republican committee today the measure will be called up in the house next Monday for action.

Democrats strongly opposed the provision of the bill providing for tax on sales, but were outvoted by the republicans.

Soldier Bonus Is Attacked by Treasury Official

Asst. Sec'y. Says It Must Be Refused and Other Expenses Cut Out to Put Country on Sound Basis
(By United Press)

New York, April 30—Congress must refuse bonus to service men, put the railroads on a paying basis and sell all surplus war material, including ships, if this country is to be put on a sound financial basis, R. C. Liffingwell, assistant secretary of the treasury, told a meeting of the academy of political science, here today.

Liffingwell flayed the service men for asking a bonus, and declared they should "go to work and support themselves as any self-respecting man would do."

The shipping board has not yet made any returns to the treasury department despite the fact it has been engaged in commerce and shipping "at a time when it is exceptionally profitable."

Miss Mabel Fulton Sues City of Duluth for Injuries From Fall On Street.

The following, concerning a former well known Brainerd girl, will no doubt be read with interest by her Brainerd friends:

Duluth, Minn., April 25—Miss Mabel Fulton has filed with City Clerk Fred D. Ash notice of a claim for $10,000 for injuries which she claims to have received in a fall on West Superior street, between Second and Third avenues west, March 23. According to the claim Miss Fulton attempted to cross Second avenue west and on account of the streets being flushed at the time, was forced to cross the avenue above the crossing on Superior street. While crossing she fell on some ice and badly sprained and fractured her right thumb and sprained the middle finger of the left hand. These have since become permanently stiffened, according to the complaint.

In view of the fact that she had been a music teacher and in her professional work finds it necessary to play the piano, which she will be unable to do in the future, she is asking the city for a large amount.

Triumphed Over Physical Ills.

It is one of the curiosities of literature, as well as one of the finest instances of triumph of the spirit over the flesh, that Frank Smiedley, the out-of-doors novelist, who wrote "Lewis Armand" and "Frank Fairleigh," never set foot to ground during the whole course of his life. To the tens of thousands of his readers in mid-Victorian days, Smiedley must have appeared as a man who was either a gentleman jockey or an enthusiastic horseman, and, indeed, of every sport on the calendar, is almost uncanny. Yet he wrote all his novels "on his back," declares a writer in London Answers. They had an immense vogue in their day and his success brought much cheer to one of the most delightful and optimistic of men.

WANTS INDIAN BATTERY

Little Rock, Iowa, Baseball Manager Writes Brainerd Baseball Club to Help Him

The Little Rock, Iowa, baseball management wants an Indian battery. The fame of Brainerd as a baseball center and supply point has stretched to the ends of the earth and accordingly nothing was more natural than for the Little Rock manager, Martin Kallemeyn of the Farmers Dry Goods Co., to write to the Brainerd club to have his wants satisfied. He wrote:

"We are organizing a ball club in Little Rock. I was wondering if we could have an Indian battery from Brainerd. Could you let me know. If there is any expense would gladly pay you for your trouble. Please advise as soon as possible."

I. C. Strout, temporary business manager of the Brainerd team, will respond with a reply on the Indian battery situation.

Birthday Surprise Party

A happy birthday surprise was given Rev. P. Alfred Peterson of the Swedish Baptist church by the congregation and friends Thursday evening. A large number was present. Alfred Anderson, vice chairman of the church, had charge of a fine program given. Mr. Anderson gave the presentation speech and handed Rev. Peterson a purse of money. When Mr. Peterson had spoken briefly expressing his appreciation for the kind remembrance and token of esteem, a dainty lunch was served by the ladies.

Bible Class

The Bible school of the Swedish Baptist church will meet Friday evening in church. The lesson study will be on "The Doctrine of Sin."

Making men politicians behave is an awful job. But women can do it. This refers to the case of Miss Marguerite Smith, republican member of the New York State Assembly. She had half an hour's session as acting speaker and was obliged to rule on technicalities of parliamentary procedure. Although two assemblymen insisted upon talking at the same time, Miss Smith's forceful gavel finally forced them into their seats.

Possible.

"Is it possible for a man to get thoroughly drunk in this town if he is willing to pay the price?" asked an arid arrival.

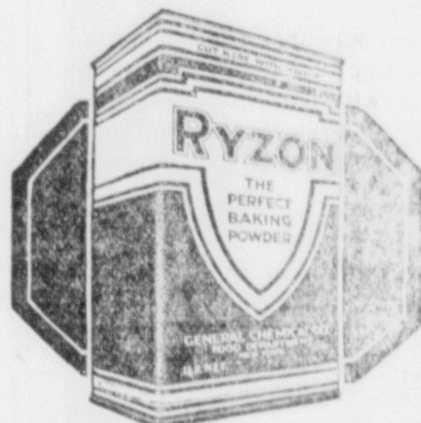

"Well, yes; I reckon it's possible," replied the landlord of the Petun'a tavern. "But it don't hardly seem probable. You see the bootlegger takes you upstairs and down cellar and round and round like the ragged rascal ran round the rugged rock in McGuffey's old Third Reader, and so on and so forth, and then charges you 50 cents for cataracting three drops of diluted flicker on your tongue with an eye dropper. Mebbe a body could get drunk that way if he was rich enough, but it does seem like an awful waste of time, money and patience."—Kansas City Star.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody can Tell when you Darken Gray, Faded Hair with Sage Tea.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful. This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

COMMON SENSE AND PRICES

While the conduct of some in the popular movements started to bring down the high cost of living may be freakish, it remains that the movements themselves show the returning of common sense after a long period of wild extravagance. Thus while a few may disgust with their notoriety-seeking by going to the extreme in the wearing of old clothes, it is of the utmost significance that there is a break in the demand for the highest-priced articles of wear when those of comparatively moderate rates would have served the purpose.

The overalls craze has led to investigations that have brought out that there were cheap suits to be had all the time, but that there was no safe for them. Common sense can now be depended upon to recognize that such suits will at least look as good as the denim articles. Then there will be the wearing of clothes in general for longer periods than some have been doing in the past few years—not, of course, until they become so ragged as to make one look like a tramp, but they will not be cast aside simply because they may look "a bit shiny."

However, it must always be kept in mind that individuals have the right to dress expensively as long as they can afford it; but they have not the right to dress extravagantly and at the same time to complain of the high cost of living. When things are sifted it will be found that those who want what they want and when they want it, regardless of the price, will have to answer for the high cost as well as the profiteers. Then there are the unadorned fools whose taste is regulated wholly by price, who are always for things that cost most. If carrots cost more than strawberries, they would spurn the latter and demand the former. Similarly if a suit of denim cost more than one of broadcloth, they would insist upon the denim. These individuals have always to be taken into account when fighting high prices.

Thus, when we come to talking about inability to make both ends meet, attention must be given to how the bill for luxuries has been growing, and also some thought might be given to those who would live up to their income regardless of how their earnings might be increased. With common sense getting back on the job, however, there is bound soon to be a reduction in the cost of living to many.

FRAMING THE PLATFORM

Democratic critics have tried to poke fun at the unusually comprehensive plans being made this year for the framing of the republican national platform, one reason to be found, perhaps, in the fact that democrats are not in the habit of taking their own platforms seriously. A platform, to their own mind, is a good deal like the street car conductor's definition: "Something to get in on, not to stand on." One is reminded of the plank calling for a single term of the presidency and other principles laid down by the democrats in recent national platforms which may have helped them to "get in on," but which they certainly did not "stand on" after the election.

The advisory committee on policies and platform of the republican national committee has sent out its first questionnaire to leading republicans asking their views on important suggestions. Some of the questions are: "Did you approve the passage of the Federal farm loan act? Did you approve the passage of the Federal reserve act? Do you believe the Federal government should license all corporations organized for profit and engaged in interstate commerce? Assuming that child labor should be regulated, should such regulation be extended as a Federal function or should it be developed more largely by the states? Should the Federal government have a housing policy and assist by providing model homes for wage earners? Do you approve extension of the policy of Federal aid to education in the several states and, if so, to what extent and in what particular directions?"

The trend of these inquiries is obvious. The question of increasing centralization of Federal powers is one of the most important of the day. And the country looks to the republican party for a vigorous declaration of sanely progressive policies.

THE PEOPLE CALL

Mr. J. A. O. Preus, listen please! The State of Minnesota needs you as governor.

In these days of turmoil and unrest a strong hand is needed to guide the affairs of the great state of Minnesota.

The office of governor demands a keen mind, sound judgment, militant patriotism and a broad experience in the matter of administering the affairs of a public office.

You have these qualifications. It may be that your personal ambitions do not incline toward the governorship. It may be that a stern political campaign does not appeal to you, for our state now faces one of the most turbulent political campaigns in its history.

Within the next seven months must be decided whether or not this state is to fall into the demoralizing hands of the socialists.

But this is a time when all true men are willing to lay aside their personal wishes in order to do their duty.

From all over Minnesota, from all sections and from all walks of life comes the demand that you become the candidate of the republican party for governor.

We honestly believe that all factions can unite upon you as the republican candidate and that your election would be practically certain.

We honestly believe that no other man in the state has the confidence of the people as you.

The clear, and straightforward letter which was received from you by the Herald yesterday is just the sort of announcement which we expected you to make at the proper time.

If professional politicians can be kept from befuddling the minds of the voters and strife within the party can be eliminated there is no question about your being the republican nominee for governor this year and that you will lead the party to triumph in November.—Anoka Herald.

A MAN'S HOME HIS CASTLE

While as long as prohibition is the law it must be enforced and reasonable latitude allowed for searching where there is reason to believe that illicit manufacture or traffic is going on, it remains that there must be no stretching of this to invasion of private residences without following precisely the procedure prescribed by law. Commenting on a case in Michigan, where the zeal of prohibition agents was alleged to have led them to search a private basement without a warrant, a federal judge said: "A revenue agent could never invade my home without a search warrant, unless I should give him permission." That states the American position that a man's home is his castle. The position of the judge as to his home is only an expression of the right of the humblest citizen in his home. There must be no "search invasions" of private residences without warrants or permission of the occupants.

It's "Milk Cow," Not "Milch Cow."

Hereafter it will be "milk cow" and not "milch cow"—at least so far as the United States Department of Agriculture is concerned.

This decision marks the termination of a controversy in which etymologists in the department have had not a little interest. Those defending "milch" have pointed to scriptural use and certain of the classics as establishing precedents, while the opposition has contended that dairymen, ranchmen and farmers in general use "milk" instead of "milch" almost universally. The advocates of "milk" also favored that word because, they contended, it was more strictly an English word, while "milch" was akin to German. Since Americanization of language as well as ideals is an article in every patriot's creed, it is thought that this last salvo of the "milk" defenders helped as much as any to decide the question in their favor.

Conceded to rank with the greatest actresses of the decade, Nazimova, now appearing in a new production, "The Brat," is off the screen, in her home in her everyday life and conversation, normal and without any of the eccentricities the popular mind ascribes invariably to genius.

A New York critic of high reputation, after talking to the star during a few odd moments at her studios in Hollywood remarked:

"To most of us, Russians are a strange people, capable of extraordinary things; an actress, especially a beautiful one, is granted immunity from conventional laws, while a gen-back labels it as one of the most fruitful quests which ever was pushed into either of the great ice caps.

So far as motion pictures are concerned the Shackleton trip is more perfectly covered than have been those of any other of the great explorers. In five reels, which are crammed full of a great volume of humanly interesting, tragic and humorous incidents, the great wastes of the South Ice are shown as never before. The animal life, the struggles of the expedition, the gigantic mountains of eternal ice, the bleak forbidding lands, the grotesque creatures to be found here, and the scientific wonders of the trip all are carefully detailed.

Not the least of the effects is the windup of the picture which shows

when his young daughter must freeze if he has not the money to pay $75 for a woolen cloak that could be bought for $18 a few years ago, he then begins to realize that he must have more money for his labor.

What about the cotton goods men, the woolen goods men and the leather men? They are now profiting up to 500 per cent and profit causes the strikes and the strikes makes the food shortage.

But it is popular to arrest a food man. We have not heard of any woolen men or cotton-mill men or tanners going to jail. We have not heard of any arrests of wholesale material men. The clamor of the politician is to get into the public eye—it makes no difference how—but the persecution of the food men is popular. It catches on in the public mind quicker and it makes good reading matter in the daily papers.

WHAT CAUSES STRIKES?

"Chicago Packer" Says the Food Men Are Prosecuted While Cotton Goods Men Untouched

A Brainerd Dispatch subscriber sends in this clipping from the "Chicago Packer" which defends the food men and takes a wallop at the cotton goods men, the woolen goods men and the leather men. Here is the article:

But a pig's greatest offense nowadays is to be a food dealer, especially in time of strikes, which cause shortages.

What causes strikes? Laboring men cannot make a living.

It is all right to say that working men are making more money than they ever made before. But when a dockman or a teamster steps into a clothing store to buy an ordinary suit of woolen clothes for his 12-year-old son and must pay $59 for what sold for $19 five years ago, when he must pay $11 for a common pair of calfskin shoes for that son that could be bought for $2.50 a few years ago;

"KATCHA-KOO" WINS BRIGHTEST LAURELS

Home Talent Musical Comedy Under
Elks Lodge Auspices Scores
Brilliant Success

CROWDED HOUSE FIRST NIGHT

Play to be Repeated This Friday
Night and Another Full House
Seems Assured

"Katcha-Koo", the brilliant musical comedy offering of Brainerd home talent under Brainerd Lodge of Elks No. 615 auspices won bright laurels on the opening night Thursday and a crowded house is anticipated for the second and closing performance this Friday evening.

Cast and choruses acquitted themselves well and all came in for the highest praise. Rehearsing diligently two weeks under the direction of Grenville M. Cooper of the John B. Rogers Producing company cast and choruses had their lines and dancing steps letter perfect and the Park Theatre orchestra and accompanist, Mrs. Leo Rifenrath worked in utmost harmony with the company.

The lighting effects, scenery, costumes were most appropriate, all contributing to make a superb setting for the musical Oriental-American comedy.

The Cast

Roland Jenkins had the title role, "Katcha-Koo", and gave a fine rendition of the same. Mrs. W. A. Erickson as Soledad, the widow of a wizard, and Mrs. M. B. Scherich as Urbannah, a high priestess, were most attractive. Al Mraz appeared as Dick Horton, collector of antiquities and Gene White as Harry Bradstone, collector of adventures, the two acting well and singing good. Harry Butler was the Maharajah of Hunga with four wives on his hands and he solved his marital difficulties with the wisdom of a Solomon.

Mrs. Clyde Burnett gave a finished reading of her lines as Mrs. Chatter-Gaddin. Her two daughters, Dolly impersonated by Miss Norma Brady and Prudence, acted by Miss Delilah Koop, were charming.

The four wives of the Maharajah were most winsome and petite being Miss Edna Mahlum as Chin Chin Foo, Miss Lillian Irwin as Patsy Kildare, Miss Edna Thompson as La-Belle Elysee and Miss Dorothy Carmichael as Brazilita.

Others in the cast were Harold Walston as Boodypah, a slave; James Mahlum a device bearer; Clinton Quinlan as a gong bearer and Walter Cullen and Albert Buscher as slaves.

Oriental Ladies of Rank

The Oriental ladies of rank, beautifully attired, were the Misses Georgia Frost, Althea McIntyre, Alice Smith, Babe Kiebler, Monica McGill, Olga Krueger, Myrtle Smith and Marie Brandand.

Attendants of the Temple

The attendants of the temple were these attired as priestesses: The Misses Dora Turcotte, Myrtle Sheffield, Bid McGarry, Sophia Krueger, Emma Anderson, Mabel Edquist, Mayme Scallen and Mardella Mahowald. The priests were Fred W. Molgen, Barney Larson, Harold Jones, Goodwin B. Olson, Chester Carjola, Axel Anderson, Clayton Mayo and Joe Mraz.

Veil or Scarf Dancers

The solo dancer, Miss Geraldine Kiebler, of the veil and scarf dancers, gave a very pretty version of an Eastern dance. Carrying vari-colored veils and scarfs a pretty dance was portrayed by the girls accompanying Miss Kiebler, being the Misses Marie K. Gabion, Irene Turcotte, Lucille Nolan, Ione Rowley, Marie Cullen, Marcella Kampman, Mae Clemenger, Letha Baker, Beatrice Peters, Ruth Willson.

Auld Lang Syne Dancers

With girls impersonating boys in pantaloons and their dancing partners in old-time frocks, a pretty dance was given by these girls, the Misses Gladys Lagerquist, Irene Quinn, Emily Mraz, Helen Mraz, Gertrude McGarry, Marguerite Carmichael, Dorothy Fisher, Ruth Ellingboe, Ida Holden, Inga Evensta, Margaret Roth.

Polo Dancers

The polo dancers were most pleasing; boys and girls giving a nished version and drawing heavy applause especially in the last change when each captain had his men in line and the girls whirling their sunshades like wheels of a cart.

The girls taking part were the Misses Olga Krueger, Sophie Krueger, Monica McGill, Mayme Scallen, Myrtle Sheffield, Althea McIntyre, Mabel Edquist, and Bid McGarry. The boys were Frank Green, Desmond Hurley, Earl O'Brien, Clayton Mayo, Chester Carjola, Harold Jones, Clinton Quinlan, and Henry Tomlinson.

Finale

For the finale the whole company, aided on the stage and were joined by the school kids. The Elks always have a tender spot in their hearts for the kids. These included John A. Hoffbauer, Jr. as the "Freckled Face Kid", Margaret Cunningham as the "Pretty Girl Next Door", Malcolm Lammon as the "Candy Kid", Marion Hill as "His Girl", Henry Workman as "Uncle Sam", and Mildred Cater and Lucille Preston as the "Columbian Girls".

A group of little girls and boys 10 years and up impersonating school children included Marie Hoffbauer, Goldie Patrick, Jennie Babcock, Joy Rice, Janet Stoner, Kathryn Allbright, Helen Wolner, Dora Brandt, Emma Wilmer, Catherine Carmichael, Geraldine Anderson, Glenadean Hostager, Alice Peterson, Orris Larson, Burton Rice, Allen Cater, Robert Anderson, Albert Weber, Hallett Clark, Kenneth Hoorn, Gerald Halverson, Howard Baker, Merwin Cheney, John A. Kiekerberg singing the solo part in the polo dance; "If Things Were Only Different" by Al Mraz, Eugene White, Mrs. W. A. Erickson, Mrs. M. B. Thanks Due Thanks are due all the wealth of talent which gave time and attention to presenting the play. Under the direction of Exalted Ruler Wm. V. Turcotte his various committees worked with a will and every Elks assisted to the best of his ability.

The seat sale has been very good for the closing performance this Friday night, and no wonder, for the colorful stage pictures, excellent voices and attractive dancing, to say nothing of the stunning costumes and exquisite stage settings have put "Katcha-Koo" on the plane of the best professional road shows.

FIRST ONE TO GIVE TO NEW BALL TEAM

James J. Cummins this afternoon gave $10 to the ball team of 1920, being the first contributor to this fund. Mr. Cummins is called out of town frequently and so does not get much of a chance to see the games, but he wants Brainerd in the front rank and unsolicited, left his check at the Dispatch to be turned over to the club.

The date for the big drive for finances for the 1920 team starts Monday, May 3.

NO WONDER!

"I'd like to find the fat head who said that it pays to advertise," said Smith.

"Of course it pays to advertise," insisted Jones.

"Go on with that stuff!" sneered Smith. "I ran an advertisement every day for two weeks and never got an answer."

"What was the nature of the advertisement?" asked Jones.

"I advertised for a homely, middle-aged stenographer," replied Smith.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F.M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit. 10c and 25c.

JOHN EVERS TELLS OF TIGHTEST PINCH

"In the world's series of 1914, when I was a member of the Boston Braves, I faced a tight pinch that stands out in my memory as the tightest one of my career," says Johnny Evers.

John Evers.

from which point he scored a moment later on an outfield fly hit by Joe Connolly. Moran's tally tied up the game and we won it in the twelfth, which was started by Gowdy, who led off with a double."

NOTES of the DIAMOND

Bill McGowan, International league umpire, is a newspaper man in the off season.

Grandstand seats will be 60 cents and the bleachers 40 cents in the Virginia league this season.

Tris Speaker added another south-paw to his staff when he purchased Tim Murchison from the Peoria club.

The dispute between Joe Lannin and Harry Frazee over Boston Red Sox money affairs seems to have been settled.

Fans of Beaumont, asked to select a new nickname for the team, which has been called Oilers, have chosen Exporters.

Duncan, who performed so well for the Reds in the world's series, isn't counted upon yet as a regular for the coming campaign.

More and more ball players are taking to golf as a means of keeping in condition in the winter. Some of them are stars at the game.

George Dumont, sold by the Red Sox to the Toledo club of the American association, has notified Manager Brennan that he will not report.

When the item of broken clubs and lost balls is considered, golf is a pretty expensive pastime for "Babe" Ruth, the Yankees' mighty hitman.

Jeff Tesreau, former Giant pitcher and now coach of the Dartmouth baseball nine, will manage a semi-pro baseball team in New York city this summer.

The Browns are said to be trying to get Bill Rumber back from the Salt Lake City club of the Coast league. Bill had a good season in the minors last year.

New York fans expect the Yankees to deliver this season, so it's going to be hard sledding for Manager Huggins in case the old game breaks bad for his team.

Michael "Bunny" Dwyer, leading batsman of the Atlantic Coast Shipyard league last year, has been signed to play in the outfield of the Toronto team.

George Gibson will have a nifty outfield if Grimm makes good at first base for the Pirates. This will allow Whitted to do outfield duty with Carey and Southworth.

Veau Gregg is another veteran pitcher who has decided that farm life is better than a berth in the minors. He has passed up an offer to pitch for the Sacramento club.

Ray Chapman comes forward with the statement that he has made only two hits off Bert Gallia since he faced the veteran boxman for the first time about five years ago.

President Frank Milley of the Western Canada league announces the signing of three umpires—Joe Dailey of St. Louis, Con Daly of Chicago and Beans Hadden at Saskatoon.

W. P. (Spike) Shannon, former major league player, has been substituted for Dave Atitzer as umpire in the American association. Atitzer will manage a ball club in Aberdeen, S. D.

Walter Mayer, Washington catcher, was all marked for a trip to the minors, being slated for Minneapolis, when Ed Gharitty decided to quit the Senators, and this kept Mayer in the majors for a long time.

Connie Mack says that the yarn about Rube Waddell calling in all his outfielders and striking out the next three men at the bat in a championship game is a myth. Rube did it in exhibition games, but not in a championship series.

MILLION DOLLAR TEAM

The $1,000,000 baseball team has finally materialized. The Yankees, after paying $125,000 for Babe Ruth and many additional thousands for other high-priced players, are the first big league club to hit the $1,000,000 mark. Ivory is keeping pace with soaring prices.

TO ESCAPE BATTING SLUMPS

Honus Wagner, One-Time Star Shortstop of Pittsburgh Pirates, Advises Friend.

Hans Wagner, always the friend of the young player, and the counselor of the unlucky player, wrote something worth while the other day. In a letter to a big league pal who had been batting in tough luck, Honus wrote: "I always found a simple way to cure myself of batting slumps. When I was going bad and simply couldn't hit anything safe, I would find myself the biggest, heaviest bat imaginable—some huge piece of timber that you'd never think of using under ordinary circumstances—I'd take that up to the plate and I'd just shove it at the ball—let the ball hit that big chunk of wood and rebound—and say, you'd be surprised to know how often the ball would bound safe and how quickly the crash of the wood against the leather would restore your confidence! Try it once and see if it doesn't work out to perfection!"

FAVORING "KNOT HOLE GANG"

Action of Owners of St. Louis Nationals in Admitting Youngsters Is Approved.

Each one must decide for himself what business policy he would best pursue in running a baseball team, but it may be said that a lot of us feel like commending the ownership of the St. Louis Nationals for organizing a "knot hole gang" of boys between the ages of ten and 16 years and approved moral character, for the purpose of admitting them free to local games.

Those of us whose parents could not afford to give us entrance money will recall with thrills our early experiences at the knot hole. My own face never got normal from the right eye squint habit then contracted, says a writer in the Milwaukee Sentinel. It was a great experience and many of us will recall the genuine excitement of retrieving a ball and getting in to a seat!

Those were great days! The boy of today is the patron of tomorrow, and so it is good business judgment, if nothing else—and we prefer to think it is something better—to let these boys in free.

ARCHITECTURE OF GOLF

The popularity of golf and the necessity for the building of courses has reached such proportions that a course of instruction on the architecture of golf links has been added to the curriculum at Massachusetts Agricultural college at Boston.

What would the American reader think, having been brought by the author to that place where the hero's voice becomes soft and the heroine blushes and lowers her eyes, to see a row of asterisks indicating a foot-note, which says: "At this point he asked her to marry him." That is what the Japanese have done in the love scene in "John Halifax, Gentleman," so that it might accord with their peculiar sense of delicacy.—World Outlook.

Johann Van Albert is afraid he will never grow up. He is only nine years old and now stands only eight feet, five inches. One of those intrepid photographers who board incoming steamships at New York asked Johann if he would have his picture taken. The photographer, who measures five feet, eight inches, got results, as shown above. Johann does not conceal the fact that he came over to join a circus.

FOUGHT OVER CAPTAIN'S BODY

Superstitious Sailors Wanted Commander Consigned to Sea—Others Would Carry Corps to Port.

A weird tale of shipwreck, death at sea and the fierce, rough-and-rumble battles of superstitions, hard-fisted seafaring men was revealed when Attorney John R. Tyrrell filed for probate in the superior court the will of Capt. Charles D. Olson, master of the clipper ship James Rolph, Jr., the San Francisco Chronicle states.

Olson died on the return from Liverpool with his ship in ballast. At one stage of the trip his ship was wrecked, and since it was not heard of for a long time was given up as lost. He got it off the rocks, patched it up and continued the voyage. Then he became ill and died.

With him on the voyage were his wife, their eighty-year-old daughter, and the child's nurse. After his death certain members of the crew insisted that he should be buried at sea. The captain was honored and respected by all his men, and the insistence of some of them on burial at sea was due to their firm belief that it was the fitting burial for a seafaring man, and that ill fortune would strike the vessel if this were not done.

Others of the crew, the majority, argued that the body should be borne to land, as Mrs. Olson desired. When the arguments waxed hot the disputants resorted to fists, knives and clubs, until separated and quieted by the ship's officers. The body was then taken into the hold of the vessel and buried four feet deep in the ballast.

When the ship reached Panama the coffin was disinterred and hoisted toward the deck to be taken ashore and cremated. Superstition again caused trouble, and a sailor named Larson, the biggest man on the ship, leaped to the side of the coffin when it reached the deck and with a knife threatened to kill anyone who attempted to remove the body from the ship before it was safe in its home port of San Francisco, because of his belief that ill luck would certainly come to the ship if it were moved.

By a ruse he was quieted and let away. The body was taken ashore.

A Love Story in Japan.

The idea of creatures called harpies comes to us from ancient Greek authors. The harpies were vultures with heads of women. They were very fierce and loathsome. They lived in an atmosphere of filth and stench, and contaminating everything which they came near. The immortal poet, Homer, mentions but one harpy, Hesiod gives two, and later writers three. The names of the harpies indicate that these imaginary monsters were personifications of whirlwinds and storms. Their names were Ocypeta (rapid), Celeno (blackness), and Aello (storm).

Dig Fish from mud.

In less civilized parts of the continent of Africa—on the Gambra river, for example—we find fish-spearing as well as mud-searching. The West African negroes are very fond of the "mud-ed," which, according to some naturalists, ought to be classed, as a reptile, on account of its foot-like fins. When the floods subside thousands of these are left high and dry, and promptly bury themselves in the mud, which soon becomes hard and earthy, and here they would remain till the next inundation if the negroes did not come along with wooden forks and dig them out.—Exchange
